

ANNOUNCING

The University of New Hampshire's New Dual Degree Program in Social Work and Kinesiology: Outdoor Education

Earn a Masters in Social Work (MSW) and a Masters in Outdoor Education (M.A.) in only 3 years.

This dual degree program is aimed to prepare its graduates for work in a variety of programs which utilize adventure and wilderness therapy.

In addition to a first year placement at a social service agency, each student will participate in a specialized internship at one of the many adventure therapy programs throughout New England.

Core courses will be taken simultaneously from both programs in an effort to provide an integrated curriculum that prepares each student for a unique career in the field.

To find out more about us!

Visit the Department of Social Work at:

<http://www.shhs.unh.edu/sw/>

Visit the Outdoor Education Program at:

http://www.shhs.unh.edu/kin_oe/

For how to apply visit UNH's Graduate School at:

<http://www.gradschool.unh.edu/>

Ben Moore
Master Student
UNH Outdoor Education

Anita Tucker
Professor
UNH Social Work

